'CAL' TO 'AL' SWING IS SEEN IN STRAW VOTE

Herbert Hoover made his first impression as a vote-getter today when he gave Governor Smith of New York a close run for votes in Brooklyn and Alton, in the straw vote being conducted by the Boston Evening American.

While the G. O. P. nominees failed to top Smith as of the polling places, he was a close runner-up in Brooklyn, and cut Smith's vote as well in the city proper from three to one to two in many places.

THE FRENCH government builds a gigantic magnet several thousand times as powerful as any built thus far. It will be used in scientific experiments in connection with the molecular and atomic construction of matter, etc. The magnet eventually will be of great use in industry.

Here the steel companies use magnets picking up tons of steel rails and loading them on cars, dropping them down, lifting them up, as a boy lifts ticks with his toy magnet.

Man to an intelligent animal, living on a gigantic combination power wheel and magnet, the earth. He constructs his own little power plant, builds his own electric and magnetic power.

In the north, day before yesterday, man's electric work hit an electric storm, and an amazing Aurora Borealis, stretching all across the northern part of the continent.

If men could borrow and use the inexhaustible electric power of the earth, they need not turn coal or waterfalls into electric current.

New York's reform committee calls night clubs vice dens. Miss Teresa Guinan, who owns THE night club, denies it. "Every night their mothers call for the kids in my place," says she. The kids are young ladies that entertain the young gentlemen. She adds: "I have thrown out some of the best people in New York just because they forgot themselves. I stop the music, and out they go."

Future writers of history will try to imagine those "best people in New York" thrown out for forgetting themselves, and wonder what the WORST people in New York must have been.

The great new German Zeppelin, soon to make its trip around the world, was appropriately baptized with liquid oxygen, the elements most important to fliers. The music, well chosen, was Beethoven's choral, "The Heavens Proclaim the Glory of God."

The heavens also proclaim the lesser glory of men, now that he has filled the sky with flying machines.

Man, made in God's image, really begins to amount to something.

In the Nankov pass, 20,000 Chinese soldiers died. To comfort them, dignitaries traveled to the spot, where they fell and 3000 soldiers stood at attention while a very nice letter was read to the 20,000 dead men. China believes that the dead, in some mysterious way, know what is going on.

Was She Weak? 'Good Girl's' Heroine Sorely Tempted—Her Story Begins Monday

RECKED YACHT CAPTAIN SAVES 31 BY RIGGING UP S O S BLINKER

14 SOCIETY GIRLS ARE RESCUED

Hodder, Gertrude Peters, J. Edward Powers, Esther Parsons, Constance Island, Russell Calahan, George L. Carr, Philip Sweet, Stella Nierman, Harold McPherson, Edward Nyberg, Grace Martine, Alma Romano, Alice Wesson, Harry Jolley, Francis Beckton and Gertrude Porter.

The three members of the crew rescued were:

Capt. James MacDonald, 10 Prospect st., Gloucester; Howard McDonald, Albert Powers.

At the time the sea was choppy, which made the situation of the yacht dangerous.

Through the presence of mind of Capt. MacDonald, when the burst of water threw the electric light system out of commission, a battery was hooked up with a bulb. A switch was used to blink signals of distress.

While Capt. MacDonald, who is only 17 years old, was signaling his blinker in the darkness, the yacht tipped 45 degrees, and the two of those who had chartered the craft, perished in the sea for shore to get help.

They went to the Rockport police station and the boat and services of Ralph Rich, a vacationist, were secured. He started for the wreck in time to take off the last four men, Capt. MacDonald, Harold McPherson, Gardner Porter and Stella Peters.

Meanwhile Capt. MacDonald had blunked his S O S repeatedly, attracting the Coast Guard, and then blunked directions in Morse code as the guards were coming out in their motor boat.

All the girls, ranging in age from 17 to 30 years, were taken off on the first trip, and all but four of the men on the second.

This yachting party left this city at 9 o'clock last night, bound for a cruise off Cape Ann. When off Rockport, engine trouble developed.

Capt. MacDonald explained today that this left the craft at the mercy of the running sea, and the launch was swept over toward the rocks of the breakwater.

About 1930 came the crash. The bottom of the boat was knocked in, and immediately the sea rushed in.

The girls were nervous and panicky at first, but soon quieted and remained calm until rescued, the Captain's crew reported.

The men assisted the girls to put on their life belts, and then the men dove.

When the Coast Guard boat arrived, some of the girls were willing to make for the second trip, but the men insisted the entire job be first.

The crew of the rescue craft was J. J. Glynn, captain; F. K. Martin, J. E. Rainaud, A. H. Swanson, Peter Polyan and Adolph Peters.

meteorologist, which previously has been referred to as the walking party, has been missing and practically given up for lost ever since May 11 when they left the nine men of the Nobile group, who had been thrown on the ice when the Italia's gondola was smashed on May 11.

STARTED FOR KINGS BAY.
With Dr. Malmgren were Capt. Alberto Martin, pilot of the Italia, and Capt. Filippo Caspi, Italian Navy aviator.

These men stayed five days with the marooned party off Northeast Land and then decided to make an effort to reach land and to trek across Northeast Land to Kings Bay. They carried approximately 50 pounds of provisions, but so far as known, had no arms.

The purpose of the group was to bring help back to their comrades who were stranded near Fyris Island in a tiny encampment centered about a small ice field.

OTHER EFFORTS FAILED.
Dr. Malmgren was widely experienced in life in the Arctic because of his previous studies as a meteorologist in that region. While he was known to be well able to take care of himself and his two companions despite the Arctic hardships, it was feared that the handicaps facing them was too great and that they never would be heard from.

No definite word of them was heard from the time they left the other men. Several overland expeditions equipped with teams were in constant search for them and the various planes which have scoured the Arctic have had no success in an effort to trace them.

The powerful icebreaker Krasin was sent north by the Soviet government on June 11 to aid in the search for the missing men of the Italia. It left Leningrad for Kings Bay on June 11 and arrived at Virgo Bay, North Spitzbergen, on the 25th. Since then the ship has been battling ice floes in an effort to reach the outcrops near Fyris Island.

It was last reported about 25 to 30 miles from the marooned men, making very slow progress toward them. With the softening of the ice, hope of rescuing the men by means of airplanes had decreased and the chief reliance of the rescue expeditions had centered more and more on the icebreaker.

WOMEN BIDDING FOR TRIP ON ZEPPELIN

By CARL VON WIEGAND

Universal Service Special Radio Friedrichshafen, July 11.—Archduke William of Hapsburg, cousin and friend of King Alfonso of Spain, was booked yesterday as the first male passenger for the crossing of the Atlantic from east to west by air.

Booked to make the trip with the archduke aboard the great German air liner "Graf Zeppelin" was his sister, Edouard Larisch.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, master of the new air craft, accepted both as passengers on the ship's first American trip.

Mrs. Hancock, who lost her first husband on the British airship and her second in the wreck of the American airship Shenandoah, now has joined the list with Lady Mabel Boll of New York, for the honor of being the first woman passenger. So far, no woman has crossed the Atlantic by air from east to west.

Mrs. Hancock has written a letter asking for a place on the superliner on her first American trip. Dr. Eckener is planning to take not more than one woman on this first trip, and already has booked Lady Drummond Hay for the voyage. The English woman will have to change her mind if Mrs. Hancock is to have a chance.

Mrs. Hancock's husband, who lost his life in the two airship disasters, both were American naval officers. Speaking of her application, Capt. Ernst Lehmann, executive officer of the Count Zeppelin, remarked:

"That is what I call the courage of women. It is not easy to be in that Mrs. Hancock there, expressing confidence in our ship."

EDWIN CAREWE GRANTED DIVORCE IN MEXICO

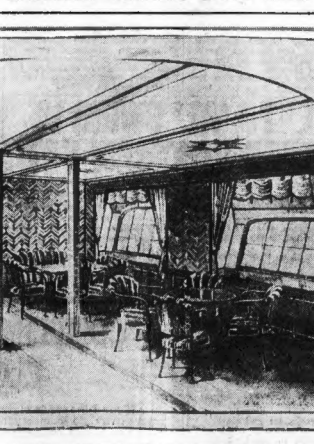

Hollywood, Cal., July 11 (AP)—Announcement is made here that Edwin Carewe, motion picture producer-director, was granted a divorce from his actress wife, Mary Atkins Carewe, at Mexicali, Mex. The announcement from Carewe's office said Jose Haas, Mexican attorney, had notified his client of the award of the divorce, suit for which was filed through Haas about five months ago.

FEARS FOR HER HONORS
While Lady Drummond Hay, English sportswoman, received the promise of being the only woman passenger on the transatlantic flight of the giant German dirigible, Count Zeppelin, now nearing completion in Friedrichshafen, her chances are being imperilled by the bidding of Mrs. Joy Bright Hancock and Mabel Boll for the honor.

Mrs. Joy Bright Hancock of New Jersey lost her first husband in the wreck of the British dirigible, ZR2 in England. Her second husband, Commander L. H. GIRL OF FATAL LOVE IS SENT TO PRISON

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, July 11—A modern Circé—the granddaughter of a king—whose love has been fatal to all men on whom she cast her eyes, was revealed in a Berlin court when Frau Irngard Bruus was tried for fraud and failure to pay her hotel bills and was sentenced to nine months in jail.

Frau Bruus is the granddaughter of King Ludwig I of Bavaria, the daughter of the famous German landscape painter, the late Karl Hoffner, and is herself an author.

Here is her record, as revealed in court:

Three men committed suicide for love of her.

Two men to love with her "fell" upon the field of battle, but one of them is believed to have killed himself.

Three men who loved her ended in jail.

One lover was sent to an insane asylum.

Another probably escaped a similar fate only because Frau Irngard left him on their wedding day.

VERITABLE "WITCH WOMAN."

She herself says: "Whoever loves me is forfeited to me; he leaves family, friends and profession for me."

Frau Bruus began life in luxury in the villa of her famous father in Florence, and was the spoiled darling of her adoring parents. She has since been through maniturnes and jails and the low salaried life of German courtiers. But her fatal fascination remains.

Small, slender and brunette, with a face never so lovely at the same time—like a painting of Holbein's, as a German newspaper put it—she is still far from the end of her career. She is only 31.

There is no figure in literature that could match her career, except possibly "Frau Maria Grubbe," by the Danish author, Jens Peter Jacobsen.

When only 17, Irngard had her first "love affair" with a cadet of a military school. Her parents sent her to a boarding school.

PLAYHOUSE OPENING BRILLIANT, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Newport's Smart Set Out in Force When Casino Theater Players Begin Summer Season

NEWPORT, R. I. JULY 11—Brilliant times have come again upon Newport. Yesterday evening was an example as the lights of lovely crystal and gilt chandeliers of the Casino Theater shone down on owners of fabulous fortunes and famous names, those who cast the scintillant glory that hovers over this smartest of summer colonies. It was the brilliance of several decades ago revived to enhance the revival of the Casino Theater.

Nada de Braganza, daughter of Princess Miguel de Braganza (the former Anita Stewart) is a most attractive member of the summer colony's younger set in Newport, where the family makes its home at "The Moorings." The marriage of Miss Nada's mother to the heir to the Portuguese throne more than a score of years ago created a sensation in the capitals of Europe as well as much interest in America's exclusive social centers. Emperor Francis Joseph II of Austria played a big part in arranging the match between the Portuguese prince and the American heiress.

SOCIETY CAME OUT FAMOUSLY. Every place in every box and every stall in the Bijou Theater, built and decorated more than a score of years ago and now brought out of dusty oblivion, was filled.

THE CASINO THEATER festival was revived that Newport's best might have its all quiver with the idea. Newport's best and most famous ones were out to applaud Rolfe Peters and his co-stars in "Peter Ibbotson."

THE SOCIAL LIONS CAME in their sleek shining motors, the vehicle of today, rather than in the sleek and shining carriages in which Newporters of old were wont to make their way about. A handsome motor conveyed that grand dame of Newport's very highest circle and of Gotham as well, the dowager Mrs. Vanderbilt, head of the clan of multi-millionaires whose names ever occupy prominent places in the public print.

MRS. VANDERBILT IS A season holder of the Casino Theater and had with her this evening a brilliant party. Very handsome and distinguished she looked, of course. Her gown was of metal cloth, dull gold and black, and a metal cloth wrap added a touch of the bizarre in its peacock colorings. Some priceless pearls were wound about her throat and a diamond bracelet flashed its color in the public print.

MANY LORNETTES were levelled at the box party presided over by Mrs. Maxim Karolik. Boston is quite keenly interested in Mrs. Karolik, who was Miss Maria Coleman and hailed originally from Beacon Hill. However, of late years the former Miss Coleman has become a Washingtonian, and, as for Newport, her handsome residence, set in its wide and spacious grounds, is one of the town's showplaces. Mrs. Karolik, for the theater opening, wore a gown of chiffon and lace, of soft dull gilt and her wrap was one of square, all against with metallic lights.

MRS. ARTHUR CURTIS M. JAMES is a boxholder and one of the handsomest matrons in all the diamond-studded audience. She brought a large party, having entertained at dinner at Beacon Hill House. Maria gleamed softly and diamonds flashed as a jewel accompaniment to her her spouse in the brilliant audience. Mrs. Bonaparte wore a handsome white satin gown, with gardenias for a corsage and several ropes of pearls for jewels. Her hair she bound fillet fashion and her wrap was a shining affair of silver gray and black. No smart matron moves abroad of evenings without several bracelets as special adornment and Mrs. Bonaparte is no exception to the rule. A half dozen examples of the jeweler's art flashed on her arm.

THE LOVELY MISS EMEILIE WINSLOW and her mother, Mrs. Cameron Winslow, are season subscribers for the Casino festival. Miss Winslow looked specially striking. Her wrap of absolute green was of transparent velvet and exquisitely matched her chiffon gown with its trailing sash and her green jade ornaments. Long earrings ending in jade pendants and a necklace of jade completed an ensemble of remarkable becomingness. One of Miss Winslow's suborned types.

THANKS to the friendly and co-operative spirit of the residents of Metropolitan Boston, we are ready to open our retail department store in Cambridge. Everybody has been so good to us that it is impossible for us to know whom to thank. We feel that we've been here a long time and have formed friendships we hope will never end. We want the folks of Greater Boston to think of us, not so much as the World's Largest Store but as Sears, Roebuck and Co., Cambridge.

At 9 o'clock Thursday morning our new retail department store in Cambridge will be opened. Thursday will be the first day of a Three-Day Opening. From past experience we know that it will take three days to take care of the many thousands who will want to see and buy in our new store. To this enterprising city we are bringing the resources of our entire organization, now serving over 11,000,000 customers, with more than 300,000 dollars worth of merchandise.

Consider the scope of this institution, its tremendous buying power, the large factories we own, besides the many whose operations we control. Consider that we eliminate all unnecessary steps in handling. Then you will realize why we are able to sell quality merchandise at low prices.

The values shown on these pages are only a few of the many thousands to be found in the Cambridge Store. Everything you need for yourself, your family, your home, your garden, or automobile, can be bought over the counter in this new Department Store.

W.C.T.U. LEADER ASKS DRY TO AID HOOVER

Chicago, July 11 (AP)—Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, Los Angeles, president of the Southern California Women's Christian Temperance Union, today called upon the prohibition party to support Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee, for the presidency. Mrs. Wheeler is a delegate to the party's convention here. She said it would be futile to organize a third party movement even with a dry Democratic heading the ticket. "And why a dry Democrat rather than a Republican," she asked. Mrs. Wheeler remarked that the secretary of the Republican convention was "an outstanding layman of the Methodist Church, the temporary chairman a teacher of a man's Bible class; the permanent chairman son of a Congressional minister; the chairman of the Credentials Committee, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, a member of the W. C. T. U. and the outstanding leader, Senator Borah, a Presbyterian—all house dry."

Charles H. Randall, Los Angeles, once elected to Congress as a prohibition party candidate, and author of many prohibition measures, wired the National Committee today recommending that the convention in Denver honor and curtle.

Nobody'll Believe It, But Jimmy Walker Is Ahead of Time!

Hollywood, Cal., July 11 (INS)—Mayor James Walker of New York today found he had been outplayed. Whether a board of strategy went into conference to formulate plans of getting the mayor to a function on time is not known, but he got there 5 minutes ahead of time! It appears someone left the impression with the mayor the luncheon in his honor at First National Studios was to be at noon. It began, however, at 11 o'clock and the mayor arrived at 11:05. After an apology for his supposed tardiness, Mayor Walker discussed the time element.

"It is recorded in the vital statistics of New York City," he explained, "that I did not arrive on earth on time."

"I have never been the man who could guarantee the exact moment at which I am to take my departure from this world. So why worry about being on time in between these two events?"

GEN. PANGALOS FREED BY GREEK CABINET

Athens, Greece, July 11 (AP)—Gen. Theodoros Pangalos, who was thrown into prison in August, 1926, after being ousted as dictator, was a free man today. He had been awaiting trial for treason. The new cabinet decided that, since Pangalos had been ordered imprisoned by a parliamentary commission and since Parliament had been dissolved, the commission's existence was ended and Pangalos should be freed.

6500 YD MEN GET DOWN TO REAL WORK

Camp Tule, July 11—The 6500 men of the 25th Division, full of pep for their military work, start out today with the intention of making every minute count. Their enthusiasm has won the praise of commanding officers.

Work is up to schedule, and much is being accomplished, commanders state.

In the field artillery brigade target practice was taken up for the first time. The first battalion of the 102nd Field Artillery "let go" with a few shells, even though the visibility was poor. Good marksmanship was the result, however.

The officers of the second battalion of the 102nd Field Artillery put in a day on the pistol range.

Maj. Gen. Alfred P. Foote, commanding officer of the division, is stressing the need for equitation for staff officers and has ordered not only his personal staff but the officers of the regimental staffs down to and including the word officers in each regiment to practice riding.

He has arranged for classes which call for instruction for at least one hour each day. This will be given under the direction of Capt. Ryder, cavalry officer attached to the division.

Officers of the division marched to headquarters of the 12th United States Infantry and paid their respects to Col. William K. Naylor, commanding officer of the regiment, and also commanding officer.

A "used car" is unused transportation

A GOOD automobile is built to stand years of use; but the average first owner trades it in after only two years.

This means that there are many thousands of miles of unused transportation which may be bought at a low price and enjoyed by the second owner.

While not all the cars that are now being traded-in are relatively new, among them you will find opportunities in cars whose intrinsic value is greater than their selling price—a fact which millions of families have already discovered.

Because of the great volume of new cars sold by General Motors dealers, their stocks of cars taken in trade offer a wide range of used car values. And the GMAC Plan of payments is available for the purchase of used as well as new cars.

LUMPS in his throat.

THE little something that's gone wrong... it seems very big to him just now. And it gives him that choky feeling in his throat... as though his heart were there and couldn't be swallowed down.

Every mother knows those pitiful sobbing days, when her child grieves and will not be comforted. And she knows too that they come when serious dangerous things are happening inside the child's body...

THE poisons of fatigue, of course, get bottled up in children's bodies just as they do in adults.

Yet mothers feel particularly unwilling to shock delicate little bodies by giving harsh, ordinary laxatives...

Feen-a-mint is different!

It is just like a bit of delicious chewing gum. You don't swallow it—you chew it!

Its magic laxative principle is released slowly, the way science meant it to be released. It actually becomes part of the digestive fluids—does not disturb digestion. It works with the body—not against it!

It won't torture you with gripping pains. It won't poison or weaken the system. It won't enslave you to laxative pills. Begin now to correct constipation this modern, scientific way.

Elkins to Sport Maple Leaf in Olympic Games

New York, July 11 (AP)—Felix Elkins, Nebraska Indian, and all-around athlete, has discovered that he is a Canadian. If he comes to be, and as a result will compete for the Dominion in the Olympic games at Amsterdam.

Elkins took a muscle in the trials for the U. S. Olympic team and was not selected to sail with the team. The two years' army service with Canada, however, made him eligible to sport the Maple Leaf, and he will compete against his old friends at Amsterdam.

Wightman's Act Regretted by McArthur

New York, July 11 (AP)—The resignation of George W. Wightman of Boston from the American Olympic committee because of the Paddock case was regretted with "deep regret" by Maj. Gen. Douglas H. McArthur, chairman of the committee.

Mr. Wightman, who was vice-president of the committee, announced his resignation yesterday in a telegram in which he severely criticized the committee for permitting Charley Paddock, veteran California sprinter, to accompany the American team to Amsterdam.

"I cannot conscientiously remain membership on any committee," Mr. Wightman said, "which on technical or other like grounds permits an athlete to represent the United States who he is notoriously under suspicion as an amateur and who therefore may be the cause of destroying the fundamental purpose for which the Olympic games are held."

Mullen Arranges Elimination Bout

Chicago, July 11 (AP)—Promoter J. M. Mullen has completed plans for what he hopes will lead to James Mandell's defending his lightweight championship title in Chicago during the present outdoor season.

Mullen has arranged for two elimination fights to select Mandell's opponent, the first step being the elimination between Jack H. English, ex-champion, and Max Waters of California, here tomorrow night.

The winner of that fight will be matched against Billy Peterson of Fresno on July 15, with the survivor later meeting the titleholder.

OLYMPIC TEAM SETS SAIL

By LAWSON ROBERTSON
Head Coach American Olympic Team

New York, July 11—It was sail and farewell for the twenty Olympic squad at noon today.

And, in departure, there was the usual waving every man and woman was called on the liner President Roosevelt.

SHIP IS FILLED

The ship was crowded to its limit. Beyond the great number of athletes there were many coaches and assistant coaches.

Quite a bit of deck space between pull aside for whatever training can be done on board a boat. There is a small square that the athletes use as a swimming tank for the water and a gymnasium for the rest of the ship.

The ship is a big one, but it has a chance to do any waiting, but they have been sitting around on when they can rest and turn to keep their muscles tuned. The jumpers will have a small space along the side for some brief jumping exercises. But the rest of the ship the long distance men, the shot and the javelin throwers and such will be somewhat out of luck. There will not be special arrangements for their training because of the nature of their endeavors.

NEED REST

However, they, of course, will have use of the gym and will be sent through certain drills and calisthenics daily. I'm afraid that some of the boys will, through nervousness, slip off a bit, but that perhaps just as well. Most as when reached the Cambridge trawler and to the ship.

They certainly have earned a brief moment's rest at the boat trip. They are due to arrive at Amsterdam the 26th, and the games won't start until eight days later.

Much can be accomplished in eight days and I feel certain that the squad will become entirely acclimated and be tightened up to the ship before the starting gun is fired on opening day.

World Famous Writers Will Report Olympic Games for Boston American

The Boston Evening American will have a wonderful array of writers in Amsterdam covering the Olympic Games.

Charley Paddock, dynamic sprinter and keen student of track and field athletics, and Lawson Robertson, head coach of the Olympic team, will give the viewpoint of athlete and director. These two have written for the American during the past few months, and the continuance of their fine articles will be welcomed by fans.

Three world famous International News Service writers will be on the spot for the American. They are Harry E. Flory of the London office; Frank A. Wray, one of the best known sports writers, and Frederick E. Abbott of the Paris office. And so readers of the American are assured of complete and accurate news, when it's news.

Youngest Olympic Member Is 14 Years

New York, July 11 (AP)—America's youngest Olympic athlete, Thomas Black, Jr., 14 years old, of Philadelphia, arrived here today with the Philadelphia contingent which will represent the United States at Amsterdam. Tommy is co-captain of the Pennsylvania Athletic Club and is a member of the team.

Movie Rights for Title Fight Sold

New York, July 11—Motion picture rights for the Tunney-Henney fight were sold for $10,000, following a conference between Promoter Tex Rickard and managers of the fighters, Billy Gibson and Charlie Harbo.

SWEDISH STAR SETS RECORD

Stockholm, July 11 (AP)—Edvin Wide and John Peterson, veteran Swedish track performers, have developed victorious from a strenuous series of elimination trials as leading hopes of their country in the Olympic games at Amsterdam.

BIG SELECTION PROTEST

SCRAMBLING FOR OUTSIDE STATEROOMS

S.S. President Roosevelt has been fitted out with all the necessary athletic equipment, for the team is to live aboard ship during the stay in Amsterdam. That should assure the men and women of proper living quarters and care. All the team will work out during the voyage, excepting those afflicted with the well-known mal de mer.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston Evening American, last night, finally has rapped off the lid of the cleverest and said "The young is who rule the world."—Ben Newman, 95 Toia St., Boston N.H.

An old lady in a confectionery store was growing impatient at the slow pace of the clerk. "I've waited long enough," she said. "I've waited long enough."—Ben Newman, 95 Toia St., Boston N.H.

Do you know:

- After whom was America named?
- In what three forms does notation exist?
- What was Franklin's greatest contribution to the world?
- What is the oldest settlement in the mainland of the United States?
- Why do we add salt to ice in freezing mixtures?
- What three colleges were founded in 1783?
- Who were the "Harford Wits"?
- What is the name of the "Marengo"?

Guess:

- When the "Passaic" was given the name "Passaic" on the Saco river?
- Who was Columbus?

she had been there often. And she just loved to go. There were so many things to see. Sheiks and party. Two little girls from a real because she had seen them in the some day and sitting in a hotel lobby. This is the true story of a seven-year-old girl's birthday party in the year 1923. Stories like this will one day be part of American history.
